New York's Largest Single-Issue Business Coalition Names Brian Clark to Board of Directors

ALBANY – The Employer Alliance for Affordable Health Care, New York State's largest, single-issue business coalition, recently appointed Brian Clark of Syracuse to the organization's Board of Directors. He fills the remainder of a two-year term vacated by resignation of board member Janet Fish of Lansing.

Clark is Director of Government Relations for the Manufacturers Association of Central New York (MACNY) in Syracuse, a regional trade association representing more than 300 employers in a 19-county region in Upstate New York. Clark began his career as a legislative assistant at the US House of Representatives. He holds a master's degree in public administration from George Washington University's School of Business and Public Management.

“Brian's interest and his longstanding commitment to the business community make him a valuable asset to the Employer Alliance for Affordable Health Care at this critical time when many New Yorkers are losing health insurance due to the high cost of their premiums,” said Alliance President Scott Miller.

The Employer Alliance for Affordable Health Care is the largest, single-issue business coalition in New York State. The organization represents more than 1,200 members across New York state, primarily sole proprietors and small business owners who collectively employ more than 90,000 individuals. Alliance members are committed to the maintenance of quality, affordable health care.
